The Mansion on O Street & O Street Museum are conveniently located in historic Dupont Circle, within walking distance to The White House, Embassy Row and The Philips Collection. With over 100 rooms and 70 secret doors, it is one of the most unique properties in the world.

A Rich History

- Designed in 1892 by Edward Clark, architect for the US Capitol at the turn of the 20th century, the buildings were interconnected and served as a home for himself, his brother James “Champ” Clark, Speaker of the House (during Teddy Roosevelt’s Presidency), and a third brother, known as "the artist."
- In the 30's it was converted into rooming houses for J. Edgar Hoover's G-men.
- In the 1960's, the student leaders of the protest movement lived here, as documented by Norman Mailer.
- Feb. 14, 1980 - 2020 O Street was purchased by H.H. Leonards and restored to its' original character.
- The Mansion is proud to have been called home by Mrs. Rosa Parks — a resident of The Mansion when she visited DC — and hosted political leaders, dignitaries, and religious leaders with us.
- Every former President since Teddy Roosevelt has visited The Mansion.

Having been a haven for heads of state, writers, foreign dignitaries, business leaders, artists, musicians, scientists, and members of the entertainment industry, we offer privacy, security, distinctive amenities, extraordinary service and world-class cuisine, all in an environment that is nothing short of magical.

Fusion of the arts & business: collaborating and supporting non-profit organizations is a powerful way to build brand awareness and loyalty. When you stay with us — or host an event here — profits go to support O Street Museum's Heroes and Artist-in-Residence programs.
